Summary Statement

This ukulele was a surprise release from a company I have learned to trust. It is a polycarbonate ukulele with some carbon fiber strands in a thinline cutaway configuration which is coated. It comes well equipped with color matched accessories and an optional transacoustic configuration. You'll love it or leave it based on the styling (I like it, and so do my students) and it fills a niche between existing Outdoor Ukulele models...while priced underneath any Outdoor Ukulele.

There are not many other ukuleles on the market that provide the features and sound of this ukulele at the price point.

It seems perfect to me. I don't like some aspects of the accessories (Case has no storage, strap, and frustrating zippers; Uke strap is too wide and short)...but that isn't a problem with the instrument.

You'll love it or hate it. I like the cut away look, color choices, curved back, fretboard shape, slotted bridge, and sound holes. Paint may chip/scratch with adventure use and drops. Avoid dropping it on the tail pin!

While the nut is narrow, the depth of the neck is shallow, flat, and comfortable. Great action. Slight radius fretboard. No side markers. I'm okay with the strings.

I like the sound of this ukulele...bright, clear, powerful, and great sustain...especially for a plastic ukulele. I think it is the best sounding plastic ukulele I have heard. No tubiness in the sound. And it is a thinline!
